Program I: Youth in Europe: A Place for Lovers

A Hotel Room Story (2014) | Spain—Director: Daniel Piera—Length: 18 min

A boy meets a girl at an international congress in which both are participating. They're from different countries, and each has a romantic partner with whom they are completely in love. But they both like each other and have felt something special between them during these days at the congress. He thinks that things have to flow without limits, but she seems to care more about being faithful. During the last minutes of their last night at the hotel, they must decide what to do: should they let themselves get carried away by their feelings or should they be completely faithful to their partners and keep their distance?

Somebody Loves You (2014) | Armenia—Director: Evelina Barsegian—Length: 17:14 min

Ani is only 24, but by local standards she is already the "aging" bride. She falls for a man who doesn't seem to notice her. Ani could marry any of her conquests from a long time ago, but she still cannot give up her dream. It's not so easy to differ from the majority in a small village where your life is predicted in advance by your parents and neighbors. Ani takes a bold decision: she is going to fight for her dreams. This romantic drama plays out against the background of ancient churches, picturesque mountains, and sky-blue Lake Sevan.

Main Course, (2012) | Czech Republic—Director: Peter Kerek—Length: 5:11 min

We are in 1972, watching an extraordinary lunch of the Spačil family. Aneta, the only child, would love to introduce her boyfriend, Daniel Cerny, to her parents. Although Daniel is really nice, her mother doesn't like him because of his job. Can her father save the situation? Could lunch be even worse?

Her only friend is a talking cat, living on the roof of her house. She tries to bury her feelings and the shining letter, but eventually her shoes lead the way to confront the sender.

The Gift of the Magi (2013) | Bulgaria —Director: Ivan Abadjiev—Length: 6.16 min.
