European Identity and Culture

Narratives of Transnational Belonging

Edited by Rebecca Friedman and Markus Thiel, both at Florida International University

Studies in Migration and Diaspora

Exploring attempts by various actors—institutions, groups, individuals—to create transnational European identities, European Identity and Culture scrutinizes the cultural formations that have either reignited or emerged in often contradictory relations to the EU project, including local, regional and transnational allegiances.

Contents: Introduction: culture and narratives of transnational belonging, Markus Thiel and Rebecca Friedman; Cultural formations of the European Union: integration, enlargement, nation and crisis, Michael D. Kennedy. PART I: EUROPEAN INTEGRATION AND POLITICAL CULTURES: National cultures, social belonging and questions on European identity, Sophie Duchesne; Modeling the process of political and civic participation in the EU: digital and traditional media in Spain, Homero Gil de Zúñiga y Navajas; Culture, communication and currency: constructing a public sphere for the Euro, Matthias Kaelberer. PART II: CULTURAL PRACTICES IN EVERYDAY LIFE: The Europeanisation of terroir: consuming place, tradition and authenticity, Marion Demossier; Islamoskepticism and its counter-narratives: transnational identity, cultural wars, and religion's place, Raymond Taras; Tourism, transnationalism, and the construction of everyday life in Europe, Dario Gaggio; Conclusion, Rebecca Friedman and Markus Thiel; Index.
